ESTONIA

Compare it to the ice cream, even if it's cold it still melts your heart in seconds!
Estonians are proud of their small, but mighty country. Why? We'll break it down for you.

Estonians love to sing. The Song Festival, held every five years in Tallinn, is famous for the highest number of choral singers on stage at once. Even a revolution called „The Singing Revolution“ led to the restoration of the independence of Estonia in 1991.

The capital of Estonia Tallinn is the best-preserved medieval city in Northern Europe.

The people live side by side with nature. Over 50% of the land is covered by forests. There are 1000 lakes, 7000 rivers and over 2000 islands in Estonia.

Everything is digital. From voting to signing documents online, Estonia implements a hassle-free and modern approach to running one's errands. And by the way, you can get 4G coverage even in the middle of the woods.

Estonia has the most start-ups per capita in Europe. Have you heard about Skype, TransferWise or Bolt?

The Estonian language is one of the hardest languages to learn. Many tourists tend to think that Estonian sounds a bit elvish!

And the ice cream.. tastes best when it's made in EST!
